DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
BEFORE THE STATE BOARD OF VETERINARY MEDICAL EXAMINERS

IN THE MATTER OF: *

CHARLES SHORTALL, D.V.M. *

DOCKET Nos. 03-057; 01-062

LICENSE NO. 1259 *

* * * * *

CONSENT AGREEMENT

This Agreement, dated this 20th day of MAY, 2005, is between the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners ("Board") and Charles Shortall, D.V.M., License No. 1259. The Agreement concerns the separate disciplinary actions that the Board filed against Dr. Shortall, alleging that he:

- (1) In Docket # 03-057, violated the Maryland Veterinary Practice Act (Md. Code Ann., Agric Art. §§2-301, et seq.), pertaining to his treatment of "Boleo," a three-year old Standard Poodle owned by Ms. Marian Insley; and
- (2) In Docket # 01-062, violated the terms of his probation.

Under the Veterinary Practice Act, the Board "may refuse, suspend, or revoke any application or license, and censure or place on probation any licensee ... if the veterinarian ... [f]ails to comply with Board ... regulations after receiving a license" (Md. Agric. Art., §2-310(8), Code Ann.); and in lieu of, or in addition to, suspending a veterinarian's license, the Board may impose a civil penalty (Md. Agric. Art., §2-310.1, Code Ann.).

More specifically, in Docket # 03-057, the Board charged that Dr. Shortall: (1) failed to comply with the record-keeping requirements for companion animals specified under COMAR 15.14.01.10; and (2) provided substandard care to a patient, a violation of COMAR 15.14.01.07. In Docket # 01-062, the Board charged that Dr. Shortall failed to comply with the probationary condition that he obey all laws and regulations governing the practice of veterinary medicine in this State.

Findings of Fact:

Dr. Shortall, by entering into and signing this document, stipulates to, and acknowledges that the Board, by a preponderance of the evidence, could prove the following Findings of Fact:

- 1.) Dr. Shortall is a licensed veterinarian in this State, and has been since 1965.
- 2.) Dr. Shortall owns the Beltway Animal Hospital, located at 8702 Loch Raven Blvd., Baltimore, MD 21286, and has owned this facility at all times relevant to these charges.
- 3.) On or about November 6, 2003, Boleo, a three-year old Standard Poodle owned by Marian Insley, was presented to Dr. Shortall for emergency care (to wit: the owner's daughter advised Dr. Shortall that Boleo had been "hit by a car"). At that time, Dr. Shortall recorded the following short history of Boleo's condition as it pertained to the animal's medical status: "Auto - D - minutes ago."
- 4.) After examining Boleo, Dr. Shortall recorded the following pertinent information about the dog: (a) her sex: female; (b) her age: three years old; (c) her weight: 44 pounds; and (d) her breed: Standard Poodle. Dr. Shortall also recorded the following information concerning Boleo's physical condition at the beginning of custody: "Severe dyspnea. Nasal bleeding."
- 5.) Although Boleo had been presented as a "hit by car" emergency patient, Dr. Shortall's examination of her physical condition at the beginning of custody did not include an examination of the following vital signs: (a) her heart rate/rhythm; (b) her pulse rate; (c) her respiratory rate; (d) her body temperature; (e) her mucous membrane color and capillary refill time; (f) her body condition score; and (g) her lung sounds (a veterinarian's standard treatment of an emergency patient includes a thorough physical examination of the animal).
- 6.) Dr. Shortall recorded the following information in the patient's record pertaining to the treatment he provided Boleo at this time: "Dexameth i/v w/ fluids." Dr. Shortall, however, did not record the amount of Dexamethasone that he administered to Boleo. He likewise did not record the type of intravenous fluids he administered to Boleo.

7.) To assess whether Boleo suffered thoracic injuries, Dr. Shortall took one radiographic view of Boleo's thoracic region, a lateral view, instead of the standard two views. Dr. Shortall provided no explanation why he deviated from the standard (e.g., there is nothing in the patient's record suggesting that Dr. Shortall believed that Boleo's condition would become unstable during the extra time that is required to perform a second view).

8.) The lateral radiographic view of Boleo's thoracic region shows no evidence of extrathoracic injuries (e.g., luxation, subluxation, or fracture of the ribs, sternum, spine, or forelimbs). It does show evidence of pneumomediastinum, pneumothorax, and possible pulmonary contusions. Without other radiographic views being taken, however, it is difficult to make a definitive diagnosis.

9.) Because Boleo was a trauma patient suffering from severe dyspnea (and possibly, pneumomediastinum, pneumothorax, and pulmonary contusions), Dr. Shortall should have closely monitored Boleo, particularly for signs of respiratory distress.

10.) After radiographing Boleo, Dr. Shortall placed her in a cage, but failed to closely monitor her.

11.) While cage rest alone can be an appropriate treatment for pneumomediastinum or pneumothorax, if the animal's condition worsens (e.g., if the animal shows increased signs of respiratory distress), other treatment options may be warranted, including: (a) supplemental oxygen therapy, (b) thoracocentesis, (c) antibiotics, (d) placement of a chest tube, (e) bronchoscopy, and (f) thoracic surgery. The animal's clinical condition would dictate which of these treatments would be appropriate. If pulmonary contusions were present from the trauma, oxygen therapy, bronchodilators, diuretics, antibiotics, and mechanical ventilation may be warranted. In addition, intravenous fluid therapy should be used judiciously, and in severe cases of pulmonary contusions, other types of fluid therapy (e.g., colloidal fluids) may be warranted to decrease the likelihood of fluid accumulation in the animal.

12.) Boleo died in Dr. Shortall's care. His receptionist advised the owner that the cause of death was pulmonary edema.

Conclusions of Law:

Based on the foregoing Findings of Fact, the Board makes the following Conclusions of Law:

1. On or about November 6, 2003, Dr. Shortall was presented with an emergency patient (to wit: Boleo, a three-year old Standard Poodle that had been struck by an automobile), but he failed to thoroughly examine the patient to properly assess her physical condition at the beginning of custody and, for this reason, the care that he provided the animal fell below the minimal standard required of a veterinarian in this State, a violation of COMAR 15.14.01.07 (a veterinarian's standard treatment of an emergency trauma patient includes a physical examination of the animal).
2. After examining Boleo on presentation, and being advised of the dog's history, Dr. Shortall did not record the dog's condition at the beginning of custody, a violation of COMAR 15.14.01.10A(6) (a veterinarian shall record a short history of the animal's physical condition at the beginning of custody and the initial diagnosis, if any).
3. Dr. Shortall administered Dexamethasone to Boleo, but failed to record the amount of medication that he administered, a violation of COMAR 15.14.01.10A(7) (if medication is given to an animal, a veterinarian shall record the amount and frequency).

4. Dr. Shortall administered intravenous fluids to Boleo, but failed to record the type of fluids that he administered, a violation of COMAR 15.14.01.10A(7) (a veterinarian shall record the treatment provided an animal and if medication is given, the amount and frequency).

5. In failing to closely monitor the condition and progress of a "hit by car" emergency patient believed to be suffering from severe dyspnea (and possibly pneumothorax, pneumomediastinum, and pulmonary contusions), particularly for signs of respiratory distress, Dr. Shortall's care of Boleo fell below the minimal standard required of a veterinarian in this State, a violation of COMAR 15.14.01.07 (Dr. Shortall's notation of "severe dyspnea" suggests significant thoracic or intrathoracic injury that necessitates close monitoring of the patient's pulmonary function).

6. Following his initial examination of Boleo, Dr. Shortall made no record of the animal's condition or progress while she remained in his care, a violation of COMAR 15.14.01.10A(8) (a veterinarian shall record the progress and disposition of the case).

DOCKET No. 01-062

Findings of Fact:

Dr. Shortall, by entering into and signing this document, stipulates to, and acknowledges that the Board, by a preponderance of the evidence, could prove the following Findings of Fact:

1.) On August 22, 2002, the Board disciplined Dr. Shortall for failing to comply with the record-keeping requirements specified under COMAR 15.14.01.10, pertaining to his treatment of "Schumacher," a Weimaraner owned by Robin Hopkins. Among other things, the Board suspended Dr. Shortall's license to practice veterinary medicine in this State for a period of two weeks, stayed the suspension, and placed him on probation for a period of three years under the condition that he obey all laws and regulations governing the practice of veterinary medicine in this State, including, but not limited to, the record-keeping requirements of COMAR 15.14.01.10.

2.) While serving this probation, Dr. Shortall, as noted in Docket # 03-057, failed to comply with the Veterinary Practice Act, including, but not limited to, the record-keeping requirements of COMAR 15.14.01.10.

Conclusions of Law:

Based on the foregoing Findings of Fact, the Board makes the following Conclusions of Law: Dr. Shortall has violated the term of probation that the Board imposed upon him in this matter, requiring that he obey all laws and regulations governing the practice of veterinary medicine in this State including, but not limited to, the record-keeping requirements under COMAR 15.14.01.10.
